MRS. HAMMERSTEIN IS GIVEN VERDICT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Jury Deliberates Less Than One-Half Hour Before Reaching Verdict

$363.82 AMOUNT GIVEN

One Other Damage Suit Is Started, With Judge Boyer Presiding

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 22.—Returning a sealed verdict, a jury Monday afternoon, in civil court before Judge Calvin S. Boyer, returned a verdict of $363.82 in favor of the plaintiff, Dorothy B. Hammerstein, wife of Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, of "Highland Farm," near here, and against Mary E. Chestnut and Miss Ann Chestnut, of Doylestown township.

The jury, which deliberated less than a half-hour, reached its verdict during the noon hour while court was recessed. The trial began on Friday, when Peter Moen, manager for the Hammersteins, testified he was driving Mrs. Hammerstein's car when it collided with a car driven by the defendant, Ann Chestnut, at Shady Retreat and Line Kiln road intersection.

Claiming damages amounting to $667, Andrew Mikula, 228 Harrison street, Askam, near Wilkes-Barre, began his suit against Linford Umstead and Edwin Umstead, Fountaintown, before Judge Boyer.

The plaintiff, Mikula, 28-year-old automobile parts clerk, was driving his 1940 coupe on Route 611, November 25, 1940, when he was struck by logs protruding from the rear of the defendant's truck at Heacock's saw mill, near Rickett's Corner.

The plaintiff, who had picked up a sailor—a hitchhiker—who was knocked unconscious, testified the truck with the logs on it was in the right hand lane and when it turned in the logs made a semi-circle, striking his car and the sailor.

"The logs protruded in different lengths and altitudes," said the plaintiff. Under cross-examination, the plaintiff, who said his car was worth $817 before the accident, testified it was sold for $150 as junk after the impact.

The plaintiff, who denied that he saw any "arrow" lights or a red flag fluttering as a tail-warning, testified the driver, Edwin, gave no hand-signal and did not signal with the rear lights.

BURGESS JACOB C. SCHMIDT REPORTS ON PROGRESS MADE DURING PAST 2 YEARS IN IMPROVING THE BOROUGH AND EXPANDING ITS NUMEROUS FACILITIES AND SERVICES

To the Citizens of Bristol: Because the record of the Borough Government is one of the major issues in the election November 4, I believe it is proper for me to make a report at this time on accomplishments by the Borough.

Two years ago, at the end of World War II, I gave Borough Council an outline of our post-war problems. As Burgess, I promised to devote the energies of the Borough Government to meeting those problems. The suggested program became a kind of political platform for the Republican candidates for Borough office that Fall.

Has that platform been carried out?

Very largely. It is a pleasure to report to you that great progress has been made in all phases of it. We have been completely successful in some fields; none of our promises have been forgotten. In addition, we have been fortunate in obtaining a number of other major improvements not then in sight.

What was the big problem in Bristol two years ago? It was the condition of the Borough's streets. Beaten by war-time traffic during a time when maintenance and repairs were impossible, the streets were rough, pitted with holes, deteriorating badly. Since then virtually all of the Borough's thoroughfares have been resurfaced. Holes have been filled, gutters cleaned, the pavement edges repaired, many bad crossings improved shoulders attended to, and virtually all streets brought back to comfortable and usable condition. In a number of cases, major street rebuilding has taken place. Market street, for instance, has been improved with a curb-to-curb asphalt surface replacing its former broken concrete. Water street also has been rebuilt. Trenton avenue and Taft street in the Sixth Ward have recently been improved.

In the Fourth Ward a number of streets are now being widened, graded and paved to tie in with the new By-Pass Highway. These include Second, Third and Fourth avenues, and Corson, Spruce and Headly streets, large portions of which have been resurfaced; and part of Corson street and all of Pine street which are being rebuilt.

Street lights and street signs are soon to be installed at all intersections with the new Highway. Only those who remember our Borough streets during the closing months of the War, and compare them as they were then with their condition today, can fully appreciate the splendid progress which has been made in this work.

Another great problem immediately after the War was traffic. During gasoline rationing, this was not acute, for many cars stayed at home. But the end of rationing

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

In his new book, "FRANKLY SPEAKING," former Secretary of State Byrnes says that the United Nations should eventually order Russia to get out of Germany, and if Russia vetoes this demand, the United States "and as many as are willing to join in the task" must drive Russia out by force.

In short, World War III would begin. Where would it end?

Before going further, we should ask who let the Russian Bear loose in the world?

Bell Phone Co. Announces Installation of 200,000 in Philadelphia Area

MANY MORE REQUESTS

AMBLER, Oct. 22.—The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has added nearly 200,000 new telephones in Philadelphia and nearby Pennsylvania counties since the end of the war, Carl R. Freehafer, vice-president and general manager of the company, said last evening in speaking at the annual "get-together" of local telephone employees in the Ambler high school.

"This is the all-time record for new installations and it has been accompanied by a record-breaking construction program," he added. "The company has been opening new central offices, erecting new buildings, placing hundreds of miles of new cable and wire lines, and making additions to virtually every existing central office. Much work has been done, and much more remains to be completed just as fast as we can."

During this same period, he declared, new applications for telephone service have continued to pour in—also in record-breaking numbers. Today, despite the addition of 200,000 new telephones, there are still 49,000 applications on the company's waiting list in this area. "Fortunately," he said, "the waiting time is becoming shorter and shorter."

One of the ways in which the telephone company has been able to provide service for so many persons is by the greatly increased use of party-lines. This has enabled the company to provide service to two or more subscribers where only one could be served on an individual line basis, he pointed out.

"We realize that thousands of these party-line subscribers prefer individual line service," he said. "But there is an equal number of persons who would have no service at all if we were not for party-lines. As soon as we can obtain and install sufficient central office equipment and other facilities, we will again make it possible to give an individual line to everyone who wants one."

Morris S. Albertson, district traffic superintendent, was chairman of the meeting, which concluded with refreshments, entertainment and dancing.

BUCKS COUNTY DEBTS

There isn't a whole lot which can be said on the subject of Bucks County Debts, because as a practical matter the county government hasn't any debt worth talking about.

In Pennsylvania, it has been estimated that the average debt of the sixty-seven county governments is more than $2,000,000. Bucks County's present net debt is $27,732.82.

That's about 25 cents apiece for the residents of the county, compared with upwards of $100 per capita in some other counties of the state.

But even the technical net bonded debt in this county is largely an imaginary item. As a matter of fact, it probably would have been paid off long ago, except for the fact that the bonds are non-callable until 1952.

Half of the bonded debt which the county started the year—$64,000—was paid off last March. Against the remaining $32,000, not payable until 1952, there already has been accumulated $4,267.18 in the sinking fund.

The trivial size of the debt, by comparison with the county's finances, may be noted by comparing it with other budget items. Departmental earnings, for example, would pay off the remaining debt fourfold in a single year. The sale of dairy and other farm produce from institution-operated farms would more than pay the debt in a season.

GOLD FLOWS TO U. S.

The United States has just turned over $28,000,000 worth of gold to Italy, which is supposed to be of help to the government
in resisting Communist pressure.
This was not American gold. It had been stolen by the Nazis from the Bank of Italy and then "liberated" by the U. S. Fifth Army Corps in May, 1945.

It is safe to predict that it will not stay in Italy long. Most of it will soon be traded for American goods or for the goods of other nations. Before long it will lie in Fort Knox, alongside most of the world's above-ground — no
pun intended — gold supply.

The uselessness of this vast hoard of gold has been exaggerated. The existence even of unused gold to back up currency in circulation helps stave off runaway inflation, and when gold is well distributed throughout the world it comes in handy to balance international payments.

But it is a good thing for Americans to realize precisely what their gold hoard in Fort Knox stands for. It represents the margin by which the United States has been out-traded. It measures the difference between the goods and services Americans have delivered to foreign countries and those they have received in payment.

But there is little doubt that this gold will buy goods or services anywhere in the world at any time in the future. Trouble is, the government has all of it. How can an American spend what his government has hoarded?

All the world's a stage, but at the moment football players seem to be getting most of the spotlight.

Guided missiles capable of spanning the widest ocean are the latest development in the brave
new world.

American housewives will view
the food-saving program with compleacency unless soybean recipes are revived.

If, as Henry Wallace predicts,
this country loses the next war,
perhaps it will not have to pay for it.

Britain's fumbling Attlee urges
the people to work harder.
Churchill called it sweat, and lost
the premiership.

Bucks County Debts

As a matter of fact, in contrast with the net debt of $27,732.82 now on the books, the County started the current year with a total of $162,946.49 cash balances in the bank from unspent appropriations last year.

This sort of financial picture is one which doesn't just happen.
It is the result of careful and business-like operation of the county's affairs over a period of years at Republican hands.

If it is the way you want your public affairs administered—if the wiping out of public debts in Bucks County strikes you as a happy contrast to the tendency of some other governments to pile their debts higher and higher—then the thing for you to do is to vote to keep the Republican Party in charge of the County Government.

Go to the polls on November 4, and when you get your ballot, look for the word Republican where it appears in large, black type. Vote for all Republican candidates for county and local offices by simply writing an "X" in the square after the word Republican, thus:

REPUBLICAN X

Inside Your Congress

Byrne's declaration that World War III may be necessary is, in effect, a charge that World War II
was badly managed by President Roosevelt. We know that Churchill urged going up through the Balkans,
the "soft under-belly" of Europe, rather than across France. In order to get into eastern Europe
ahead of the Russians; that Roosevelt vetoed Churchill's plan; that he agreed to the Morgenthau Plan for which we must now curtail our food in order to feed both former allies and enemies; that he fathered
the "veto" or principle of unanimity for the United Nations. It is also said that Mr. Roosevelt agreed that Russia should have the honor of capturing Berlin, although this did not take place until 26 days after his death.

Now, ex-Secretary Byrne says that we must drive Russia out of Germany, with the help of as many other nations as will join us. But will we do all the blood letting to free German soil of Russians and refuse any German assistance that may be tendered?

War against Russia and her satellites would dis-unite the United Nations beyond question. Second, Mr.
Byrne would negotiate a separate peace with Germany. Whatever the moral justifications for this action,
and they are great, it would put us in the position of violating our pledge not to make a separate peace. Third, Byrne would disregard Russia's veto of his proposed order to Russia to get out.

Yet, the United Nations' Charter says clearly that no action shall be taken by them against any of the Big Five if any one of the Five objects by her "veto," as Russia would almost certainly do. Moreover, Mr.
Byrne's Plan contemplates direct action against Russia outside of the United Nations.

This would clearly be the end of Mr. Roosevelt's "Great Design." The only thing that might save this result would be a complete back-
down by Stalin, Molotov, Vyshinsky, et al.

If Mr. Byrne forethinks the future policy of President Truman and Secretary Marshall, it marks
a complete break with the "Russian" policy of appeasement. If events move toward war, President Truman will either be re-elected as a war or crisis President, or he will be defeated as a result of a split between those Democrats who think Roosevelt was right, and those who think Truman, Marshall and Byrnes are right.

However cautious we may be in adopting the "Byrnes Plan," we can at least thank him for being frank. We have had little frankness since 1939. You will recall the repeal of the Neutrality Act in the fall of that year. Byrnes, then Senator and Congressman, one after another, all said the sale of munitions to belligerents would "protect the neutrality" of our country and at the same time keep us out of war! As Mr. Roosevelt put it:

Senator Burke, of Nebraska,
among those who voted for repeal,
was about the only one who stated
the question honestly. He said: "It favors the belligerent that I want favored." Exactly.

It will be some gain if frankness
now takes the place of "gobble-de-gook."

No Action Yet On Sale of War Plant

"The Philadelphia officials have not yet reached a decision as to a recommendation," a New York
spokesman said.

He added that several officials of the New York WAA office are now in Philadelphia discussing the matter, but that "nothing definite will be done for probably several days."

The WAA had called for sealed
bids for sale or lease of the plant.
The bids were opened Oct. 15 in Philadelphia.

Only two offers were received—one from Supple-Biddle Co., of Philadelphia, which offered $550,999
plus $7,999 for related property.
The other bid—for $12,685—came from S. H. Gressitt, of Baltimore.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Lehman Strauss
Pastor, Calvary Baptist Church

Text: Psalm 101:2—"I will walk within my house with a perfect heart."

O Lord, in these days of un-Christian and broken home life, we pray for a revival of interest in spiritual things in our homes. Restore the family altar that has been destroyed. Deliver us from playing Christian abroad while we are devils at home. Create in us a sincere desire that we might walk uprightly before Thee in our homes. Help us to turn our homes into a place where true Christianity is in evidence. We pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

Magni-Hayes Nuptials Solemnized at Croydon

CROYDON, Oct. 22.—At a Nuptial Mass in St. Thomas Aquinas R. C. Church, Saturday at 10 a. m., Miss Roberta Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes, Maple Shade, became the wife of Mr. Reinold Magni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Magni, of Pence, Wis. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. The Rev. Fr. Rogers, assisted by the Rev. John Diamond, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Martha Hayes, maid of honor; and Miss Mary Rafferty, Bristol, and Mrs. Bentley Baker, Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride, bridesmaids. Mr. Fred Collins, Bristol, was best man, and ushers were Mr. Robert Hayes, brother of the bride, and Mr. John Lawler, Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown, and her finger-tip veil was held with a tiara of pearls. She carried a prayer book topped by a gardenia. During the ceremony a choir boy handed her a bouquet of white chrysanthemums which the bride presented at the feet of the Blessed Mother. At this time Miss Laura Pope, Bristol, sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," Miss Pope also sang "Ave Maria," and "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy." The maid of honor's gown was blue, and she wore gold slippers and carried a bouquet of yellow roses; Miss Rafferty wore pink, carried pink roses, and wore silver slippers. Mrs. Baker wore an aqua gown, silver slippers, and carried pink roses. They wore floral head-dresses and short veils to match their gowns.

A wedding breakfast was served to 50 in St. Thomas' Hall. The newlyweds left by motor for a week's trip to Chicago, Ill., and Wisconsin. They will reside in their newly-furnished apartment in Andalusia.

Governor Duff Proclaims Day To Honor Wm. Penn

HARRISBURG, Oct. 22.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today proclaimed October 24 William Penn Day to honor the Commonwealth's founder.

"In founding the little colony that has grown beyond his wildest dreams, William Penn established a new standard of government," Duff stated.

"He made religious freedom the foundation of that form of government, and extended his basic guarantee of liberty to include freedom of conscience, individual rights and political liberty."

The Governor declared that the form of government founded by Penn has been "accepted far too casually" while people of other nations "yearn in vain for a similar type of government."

ST. ANN'S XI TO MEET BUCKS TEAM HERE THIS EVENING

After a ten-day lay-off, the St. Ann's A. A. grid team will return to action tonight to meet the Lower Bucks A. C. under the lights on the high school field. Kickoff is scheduled for 8.15 o'clock sharp.

The ten days rest has given several of the injured players a chance to recuperate from injuries and there is a possibility that the "Saints" will field as strong a team as it had at the beginning of the season.

Coach "Mike" DeRisi has had more than his share of injuries for one season with most of his first-string lineup being banged up some way or the other. It seems certain now that "Carm" Gullotta, star tackle, will be out for the remainder of the season, as will "Reds" Schreiner, fast backfield ace.

But the St. Ann's team still carries on and has also scheduled a game for Leedom's field this Sunday, playing the Willow Grove Vets, a member of the Northeast Conference.

Two new players reported to Coach DeRisi since the layoff started. "Norm" Vandegrift, former Bristol high player of several seasons ago will fill in at the pivot post and give DeRisi a chance to move Joe Conti to the backfield, which is weak at the present time. Conti formerly played back but moved to center when DeRisi was short of players for this position. The other newcomer is "Johnny" Vandine, who is trying out for the backfield.

The Lower Bucks A. C. is composed of players who formerly went under the name of Fallsington Alumni. The team was organized by "Jim" Doheny, present basketball coach of Morrisville High, and is coached by Glenn Miller, coach at Falls Township.

Miller has moulded together a fine array of stars, including the Manaman brothers, Termyna, Silvi, Monti, and Lovett, and has won three games after getting a late start. Miller is anticipating a triumph over the Bristol team and drilled his boys on stopping the plays as mapped out by Coach DeRisi.

Last season, Fallsington Alumni was limited to youths who graduated from Falls Township, but this season Coach Miller and Manager Doheny opened up the team to include any player from Lower Bucks County, hence the Lower Bucks team has several players from Morrisville and Yardley in its lineup.

Coach DeRisi's starting lineup will most likely be composed of: Ends, Denny and Keyes; tackles, Sozio and Quattrochi; guards, Profy and Campbell; center, Caucel; backs, Lelinski, Fiorelli, Lomma and Spencer.

Two Girls Hurt When Truck and Car Collide

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Oct. 22—Two girls were injured last evening at 8.30 when the pickup truck in which they were riding, operated by another girl, and a passenger car collided at the intersection of Lincoln highway and Durham road, here.

The injured: Margaret Day, R. D. 2, Langhorne, possible fracture of left collar bone. Ruth Craven, Durham road, South Langhorne, injuries to left shoulder, and bruises.

The two, with a group of girls, were riding in a truck operated by Joyce Miller, Marshall avenue, Langhorne, and owned by her father. The truck was being operated on Durham road, and the group was crossing the Lincoln highway when the truck and an automobile driven by George W. Hanners, 69, of Long Branch, N. J., crashed. Hanners was travelling east on Route 1 at the time, and according to Pennsylvania State Police of Langhorne barracks, both drivers claimed they had the green light signal to proceed.

Slight damage was caused to the two vehicles.

Earl J. Moore, Wilkes-Barre licensed automobile dealer, in his testimony revealed that the O. P. A. price for the car prior to the accident was $817 and after the crash was $150.

Members of the jury are Marvel Durham, Bristol; Russell Potter, Bristol, R. D. 2; John B. Force, Yardley; Pearl D. Slater, Langhorne, R. D. 2; Smith Hilbert, Upper Black Eddy; Karoline Eulich, Line Lexington; Oscar Eckard, Newtown; Arthur F. Leigh, Tullytown; Alice L. Naylor, Point Pleasant; John H. Patterson, Morrisville, R. The plaintiff rested his side of the case late Monday.

Mrs. Black also spoke of the enormous cost of the liquor traffic, which in this country alone, she said, is about $8,000,000,000 annually, or three times as much as is spent for education. She also spoke about the large amount of human suffering brought about through intemperance.

Throughout the convention a number of resolutions were drafted, and these were presented for adoption by Mrs. Leroy Nixon, of the Newtown union, and Miss Marion Longshore, of the Makefield union.

Burgess Schmidt Reports On Borough Progress

brought them all back to the highways, and congestion in the Mill street shopping and movie centers piled up to the point of keeping customers away.

This traffic problem has been looked in the last two years. Today any shopper can visit any Mill street store, or any other store in the Borough, or can attend church, movies or any other attraction, and be able to park his car within a block or so of where he wants to go.

Traffic tie-ups, in the main, have ceased; at the worst, they are only of a few minutes duration.

A series of steps taken by Borough Council have met this problem. I might add that the traffic problem is one which scores of other communities have wrestled with in vain.

One big factor in solving the traffic jams, of course, has been the enlargement and improvement of the free municipal parking lot back of Mill street. This has been increased in size several times over. The entrances, lighting and policing also have been improved. Hundreds of cars can now be parked free within an easy walk of the Mill street centers.

Such a large free parking lot is, of course, the envy of thousands of businessmen in other Boroughs, where the difficulties of shopping by car is a major handicap to business. Further enlargement, grading and paving of the lot is planned for the near future.

Other steps which have speeded up and systematized traffic include the assignment of traffic police during rush hours; the marking of the streets so that lines of traffic, no-parking zones, one-way thoroughfares, etc., are clearly shown; the extension of no-parking and limited parking zones; and the addition of some new one-way streets.

Another major traffic improvement which Borough Council has made is the installation of parking meters in the Mill street area. These already have been an important source of revenue; but their value as money-makers for the Borough is trifling compared with their value in keeping the streets available to everyone, instead of allowing them to be taken over for the convenience of a handful of long-time parkers.

Still another factor which has helped relieve the traffic problem is the recent completion of the By-Pass Highway, which, from the cemetery to Tullytown, two years ago was only a blueprint. Opening of this Highway has taken from the business district virtually all of the through traffic between Philadelphia and Trenton.

A third great problem at the end of the War was the need for additional recreational facilities in this community. The progress we have made, despite the difficulties of finding materials for construction, is far greater than most comparable communities can boast.

Everyone will remember, of course, that during the War Silver Lake was neglected. Through the instigation of the late Senator James and others, and with the active support of Borough Councilmen to the extent possible in view of the fact that the Lake is outside the Borough, the Commonwealth's Fish Commission has been interested in improving this body of water for the use and enjoyment of the people of Bristol.

The dam and outlet were repaired, the banks cleared of underbrush, the lawns mowed, the young trees given attention, hard-surface roads were laid, the Lake was restocked with fish, and the bathing beaches restored. For the past two years, the Lake has been a favorite hot-weather resort, and on some days has been used by crowds numbering in the thousands. Volunteer work by civic-minded residents of the community has made it possible to have life-guards and other attendants on duty during the bathing season.

In the Borough itself, the great need for a playground and athletic field is being met through the generosity of one of our fellow-townsmen, former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who gave the community the grounds known as the War Memorial Recreation Park, and also has financed the improvement and upkeep.

Some delay has been suffered in the improvements because of scarcities. Some of the equipment was on order for more than a year before it arrived. This last summer, however, saw much of the new park opened for use. At Washington street and the Canal, there has been built a strong enclosure, with a children's rest-room, and here, under full-time supervision, a children's playground and a tennis court were opened. These were an attraction for large crowds during the latter part of the summer.

On the athletic grounds at Jefferson avenue and the Railroad, two baseball diamonds were completed in time for use during the last league baseball season. Soft-ball, bocce, and many other games also were enjoyed on these grounds during the season now closing.

Plans for football gridirons, a grandstand, and other facilities, have been discussed, but are delayed by exactly the same reason which has postponed so many improvements in your own homes—lack of materials and scarcity of labor.

A third recreation center for Bristol is now in the making. This will be at the river end of the grounds which Borough Council was successful in obtaining from the State—the former Canal basin back of Mill street. This ground was presented to the Borough for park and parking-lot purposes.

As mentioned above, the parking lot improvements are pushing ahead steadily. The whole area is being cleared and leveled. The grade is being raised with the use of hundreds of tons of excess soil removed from several regraded streets. Eventually it is planned to landscape the southern part of this ground, at the river front, and to include a children's playground there.

In the matter of water and sewerage, Bristol has pushed ahead with a long-range program of building up its physical plant. Additions to the water system include the completion of new wells, water-treatment units and pumps at Edgely and Bath Road. Because of heavy industrial uses of our water, it has not been possible, as we had hoped, to eliminate all pumping of river water into the mains. However, the percentage of well water has greatly increased. It might be mentioned that no case of disease traceable to public water supplies here has occurred in Bristol for years.

Water and sewage facilities have been extended to the north side of the By-Pass Highway in connection with the completion of that route, so that they are available whenever building in this newly opened area is started.

Bristol has always been plagued with water left standing after the heavy rains which occur here. Natural drainage here is not, as in some other places, sufficient to carry this water off. A large number of trouble spots for drainage have been cared for in the past two years. In the Fourth Ward, for example, new storm sewers were laid in connection with the By-Pass Highway relieving some of the worst of these.

Several other inadequate drains, street crossings and storm inlets have been corrected in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Wards. Among these are: Taft street, Prospect and Beaver; Mansion and Beaver; Elm and Beaver; Wood and Lincoln; Wood and New Brook street. A troublesome crossover at Dorrance and Cedar streets was entirely rebuilt. A major effort to open drainage for the low spot on Pond at Walnut, which has been a trouble-spot in heavy storms, is soon to be made.

Several sewer extensions are being made or arranged for: on Faragut from Cleveland to Green Lane; on Garden above Jefferson; at Mansion and Point; and along Third avenue.

All these various water and sewerage improvements have been a drain upon the municipal finances. However, it should be carried in mind that these improvements will pay for themselves many times over in their lifetime; and that the waterworks already has made many large contributions out of its earnings to the Borough's general fund.

Many minor sources of annoyance, which are matters which cannot be permanently cured, have been far better controlled during the past two years than in the War. The problem of weeds on vacant lots has been met with fair success. There is much less complaint now about low branches overhanging sidewalks.

Side walks, which are privately owned though used by the public, always have been a source of complaint where they have not been adequately cared for. I called attention to this problem in my message two years ago, and have been gratified by the response. A great many sidewalks have been relaid, and a good deal of brick has been replaced with cement.

The Canal is another matter of perennial complaint. Control of the Canal, as everyone knows, is not in the hands of the Borough Government; but complaints about its condition have been faithfully transmitted to the Forests and Waters Department of the State Government, and maintenance of the Canal and its banks have been much improved in the past two years.

All of the above improvements have been carried forward by the Borough Government without any letdown in its regular functions—Police, Fire, Garbage and Trash services. These have continued at their usual high standards. One major improvement in this field was the overhauling and modernizing of the Borough's fire alarm system.

The improved maintenance of Borough-operated property and facilities has been, I am glad to say, reflected in improved maintenance of homes and business properties throughout the community. As I recommended at the end of the War, property owners have been diligent in tidying up and getting rid of the scars left by war conditions and enforced neglect. We can all be proud of the appearance the Borough presents. We can be gratified, too, at the healthy amount of new construction which has begun since war scarcities of building materials began to ease off.

Let me say that no one person, and certainly not myself, can claim individual credit for all the many improvements I have listed as the accomplishments of your Borough Government.

They are the result of teamwork. Most of them, of course, have been accomplished through your Borough Council. They represent a Republican program carried out by your Borough Government. This means that all of the Republican Councilmen have played their part. They have all given freely of their time and their energy and their interest; unpaid by salary, but well rewarded in feeling that they have helped the community grow and develop and improve in such a gratifying manner.

This is a subject which I believe all voters should think over carefully. It is not uncommon for political promises to be completely forgotten after elections. In the case of Bristol, this did not happen. The Republican office holders here have made a faithful and eminently successful effort to carry out their campaign promises of two years ago. The result has been a record that very few communities can equal.

As I said, this has been the fruits of teamwork. The question which each voter should ask himself before voting next November is whether he wants to break up a winning team by failing to return the members of the team to their positions in the Bristol Government.

May I urge all residents of Bristol to give serious thought to this question before casting his vote on November 4.

Respectfully submitted,
JACOB C. SCHMIDT, Sr.,
Burgess
